STOCK MARKET COMMENT

Belief That the Insiders Are D. ing Stocks from the Public.

Disgust and Dismay Over the Westtess of the Industrials Leads to General Realizing by Small Holders-Copper and Steel Methods.

NEW YORK, Oct 6.-The most striking features of the week just closed in Wall Street have been the continued weakness of the industrial securities and the lack of confidence which the public seems to feel stock. While various causes have brought about this condition, there is little doubt that the recent course of the insiders in Annigamated Copper has been mainly responsible. The methods of these sponsors for the great property which was supposed to have the protection and sup-port of the Standard Oil group of millionaires, have been so unscrupulous, according to the investment authorities in Wall Street, that the public has become theroughly siarmed and has thrown its holdings on the market so precipitately as to thoroughly demoralize values. The losses in Amalgamated Copper have weakened the market position of a number of other stocks because of the forced liquidation which resulted from the readjustments of loans.

It is not believed that there has been much selling of long stock, except by the public. The Standard Oil people have sold, but, as far as can be learned, only in one or two securities, and it is not in the least certain that they have not bought as ch or more than they sold. The question who has been the buyer of stocks naturally becomes a most important one. There are reasons to believe that the big inside interests are still the buyers. Some au Rockefeller himself is taking large blocks stocks now. If this theory is correct is evident that the insiders still look for bull market some time later. This, in a bull market some time inter. This, in fact, is now the chief argument of the optimists.

The copper situation is still causing great perplexity not only among the public but in the copper trade, which is dominated to a great extent by the Amaignmated Copper Company. The public is not inclined to accept the statements being beneef from time to time by the trust as reflecting the actual conditions existing in the trade. It has been deceived so often that it questions the good faith of those who are responsible for the various reports which emanate from the inside. One of the best authorities in Wall Street thus explains the declines of yesterday:

Street thus explains the declines of yesterday.

The decline in Analgamated Copper was on reports that there would be a reduction in the price of copper within a few days. This report could not be confirmed, although the early selling of Amalgamated looked significant.

"A reduction in the price of copper may be regarded in one or two ways. If there is a small cut in the price it will be taken to mean that the Amalgamated Company har changed its opinion as to the relation of supply and demand in the copper trade. It is more or less of an open secret that for many months there was a general understanding between the great producers of copper in this country in regard to the maintenance of a fixed price. There came a time when one of these interests believed that there should be a reduction in the price of copper. The Amalgamated management thought reduction not necessary. Later it was decided that the different producers could reduce the price or not as they pleased, and this has led to the quoting of different prices by different producers. For the United Metals Company to lower the price of copper half a cent a pound would be insignificant from a speculative standpoint, but should the Amalgamated Company make an important reduction, such as has been talked about, 2 or 4 cents a point, but should the Amaigamated Com-pany make an important reduction, such as has been talked about, 2 or 4 cents a pound, it would be regarded as meaning a definite polley toward some other in-terest, probably with the intent of bring-ing about some important result in the copper trade or disewhere. Hence an im-portant change in the price of copper at this time would be regarded as specula-tively significant, while a small change would not be."

would not be.

The policy of the United States Sixel Corporation has been in striking contrast to that of the Amalgamated Copper Company and has made many new friends for the securities of the former company among people who had doubted the wisdom of combining the various properties under the Morgan plan, as well as the ability of the great corporation to earn dividends on its enormous capitalization. The showing of the company is a distinct triumph for Mr. Morgan, while the policy of candot adopted by the directors reflects great credit upon the financier, whose achievements have been marked always by fair dealing and honorable methods. There appears to be little doubt that in normal times the United States Steel Corporation will be able to carn its present dividends on the common stock, while the preferred stock will now take its place among the reasonably safe invested scentific deats in on the of the United States Steel

Transactions on the New York stick exchange during the week just ended ag-gregated $2,549,102 shares. Here are the egated $2,549,102 :

Amalgamated Copper

The following table shows the condition of the New York banks for the past week as compared with the statement for the previous week:

943,563,100 180,354,600 71,693,700 30,618,100 The followinge shows the relation be tween reserve and liabilities:

Total reserve$20,606,100 Reserve required against deposits... 23,113,675 Surplus of reserve over 25 per cent... $16,295.025 $15,569.025

over 5 per cent... $16,280,055 $15,560,055

It will thus be seen that the surplus of the reserve above the 25 per cent required by law is $15,580,055, or $733,000 less than it was for the previous week. In the corresponding week of last year there was a surplus of $434,200; while for the same week of 1856 there was a surplus of $435,200; in 1856 there was a surplus of $15,550,400; in 1856 there was a surplus of $15,550,400; in 1856 there was a surplus of $15,550,400; in 1856 there was a surplus of $16,550,400; in 1856 there was a surplus of $16,571.

As on several previous occasions, it was the loan account, in the weekly statement, which upset most of the calculations of the street bearing upon the showing. Brokers who counted on a reduction in loans, as a result of the heavy stock market liquidation, were nonplused, as they were also one week ago.

The increase in the loan account is more readily explainable on this occasion than for some time past. Several special transactions have figured in the week, some domestic and some of an international nature. The preparation for the October disbursements figured in the week's operations, and was not relieved on this occasion by Government Interest disbursements, those having been anticipated by the Treasury Department. Of transactions of a special nature are classed the payments incident to the purchase of the Broadway Bank and the exercise of the option on the purchase of two-thirds of the capital stock of the Telegraph, Telephone and Cable Company of America. Arrangements to provide the means for the payment of taxes today to take advantage of the rebate also probably, fligured in the local New Fork operations. The shipment of $2,000,000 to Philiodelphia from New York to pay for the minority stock of the Bethlehem Steel Company bought by Charles M. Schwab, had its effect also, the money having been borrowed in New York.

one of the most gratifying features in the present situation in the financial world is the constant increase in the carnings of the trunk lines of the country. These carnings are keeping up in a way that encourages the belief that there had been no diminution in the volume of the country's domestic trade, or any decrease in the thrift which has been displayed in every section of the country for several years. Notwithstanding the great prosperity which the railroads enjoyed in 1800, the "Financial Chronicle" estimates that during the fourth week of September the carnings of the roads reported showed an increase of 11-91 per cent over the same week last year. Taking the Pennsylvania Railroad as an example, because of the diversified character of its traffic, a very striking lesson in trunk line prosperity may be drawn. In the reports of this railroad for August there is shown an increase in gross earnings of $88,200 and in net carnings on the lines operated west of Pittsburg. Taking Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railway as representative of the South's commercial condition, equally satisfactery results are shown. The roads of the Middle West, of the far West and of the Northwest all show similar increases for the month of August.

while the polley of candor adopted by the directors reflects great credit upon the financier, whose achievements have been marked siways by fair dealing and honorable methods. There appears to be little doubt that in normal times the United States Steel Corporation will be able to carn its present dividends on the common stock, while the preferred stock will now take its place among the reasonably safe investment securities dealt in on the stock exchange.

The money situation, while not so crowninging as if was a week ago, is not regarded as in any degree alarming, though there is a probability of higher rates during the next six weeks. The drain on the banks from the West and Southwest still continues heavy, and the effect of the Government bond purchases and interest payments will not be felt after the present week, although they prevented a very bad showing yesterday.

While yesterday's bank statement is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is not quite as good as was expected, it is still highly satisfactory.

The falling off in earnings of the American Car and Foundry Company in the four months ended August II was one to the fact that comparison was with a period in the preceding year when the company did the largest business since it was organized. In fact, the business in the four months hast year was unprecedented, and no one expected that for that period the same great showing would be made this year. Furthermore, during July and August this year the heat was so intense in the Southwestern part of this country, where most of the company's plants are situated, that it was utterly impossible for the men to work to advantage, and this resulted in a considerable curtailment of output. Again, the company was greatly delayed by reason of the strike during July and August as it prevented receipts of steel for which the company had countracted, and this put it belind in its work. The fact remains that the company is in, better shape today than it was a year ago; it has on its books about double the amount of orders that it had last year at this time.

ful meeting ever held at Benning will commence just five weeks from today if application for stall room is any in dication of the quality and quantity of the horses that will compete, the meeting should rank with any ever held in the

Already there are applications from such well-known owners as W. C. Whit-ney, August Belmont, Carence H. Mackey, A. Featherstone, J. E. Madden, F. R. Hitchcock and I. Hitchcock, Jr., J. R. and F. P. Keene, and A. H. and D. H. Morris, it is an assured fact that not only will the above owners race their horses at this meeting, but that they will be here in person to see them race. This will certainly give an impetus to racing in this section—if such a thing were wanting-as these gentlemen are thorough levers of the sport, and have contributed largely in bringing racing up to the high standard at which it is today. But there are lesser lights that must no be lost sight of, and who, while they do not stand out as prominently in the rac-ing world, have contributed their share to the success of Benning, and have stood ly the track when the Washington Jockey Club and racing generally was not in as flourishing a condition as it is at present. Such owners and trainers as W. P. Burch, James McLaughlin, R. Bradley, W. C. Daly, H. T. Griffin, W. L. Oliver, T. J. Healey, Frank Regan, G. C. Johnson and Healey, Frank Regan, G. C. Johnson and several others equally well known will occupy the same stables as heretofores. They are closely identified with the track, and the public expect to see their colors at Benning as a matetr of course.

In fact, the Benning patrons would be disappointed if such old favorites were not entered as First Whip, Decanter, Knight of Rhodes, Charentus, Carbuncie, Kinnikinte, Magic Light, Boney Boy, Robert Waddell, Sidney Lucas, Intrusive, Lexington Frate, Speedmas. All these will be raced at the coming meeting, with hundreds of others that have become favorities in the East since the season opened, among them some which have made turf history.

Work on the new grandstand is being rapidly pushed, night and day. As all the structural material is on the ground, there is no foubt whatever that all will be in readiness by the opening day.

The track has been widened twenty feet on the back stretch, or, rather, from the six furlong pole to the five-eighths pole. Twenty horses, if that many were in a single event, can be started at any distance up to seven furlongs, and still give the track allowance of five feet to each starter.

The Washington Jockey Club is en-give the track allowance of five feet to each starter.

The Washington Jockey Club is engaged in mapping out the programme for 1962, and it promises to eclipse everything in the past. The feature of the year is the Consolation Stakes, gross value $15,090, to be run at the autumn meeting. The condition of the race is for two-year-olds that have not won $5,000. As it gives at least $16,000 to the winner, it should be rich enough to induce the best stables in the country to enter.

winner, it should be rich enough to induce the best stables in the country to enter.

Many other new stakes and handicaps will be added, and the club hopes to make the season of 1922 a memorable one in the history of Benning. At the coming meeting all the purses will be increased in value, averaging from $400 to $500.

In addition to the many applications for stall room from owners and trainers in the East who will ship here at the close of the Morris Park meeting, there are numerous applications from the West. Even with the 120 new stalls recently added many will have to seek accommodations on the outside.

Gwynn Tompkins with his stable of lumpers, Becky Rolfe, Frond, Flaccus, Mazo, Queenship, and several runners on the flat will come here at the close of the present Harlem meeting. Mr. Tompkins, although he races almost entirely in the West, is a well-known Washingtonian, and a very successful trainer. P. Dunne, the owner of a large stable, one of the best, is to be here with a string of twenty, of which the best known are Star Chamber, Sliurian, Admonition, Flying Torpedo, Toah, Emathion, Meunen, Approved, Legal Maxim, Silesian, and Arian. There will be plenty of horses, good horses, too, and in fact, with one or two exceptions, the beat that have been seen the season, East or West.

Several stables are alroady on the ground, having come here from the Camadian circuit. Among them is E. H. Hanna with five horses, and Garnett and Saunders' stable with six horses, including that good filly and many time winner Invasion.

Arthur Worley has a string of seventeen, all ages, which he is training for local owners. The best known of these is Gwynne, who, it will be remembered, won at Benning at 190 to 1, and Sidell, who won at the last spring meeting. Browndale and Dottett, owned by local parties, are also at the track.

those who have learned from bitter ex-perience know anything of its nature or characteristics. At first a little ulcer or sore appears, then glands of the neck or groins swell; pimples break out on the breast, back or some other part of the body and fill with yellow pustular matter; the mouth and throat become sore and the tongue is at all times badly coated. Headaches are frequent, and muscles and joints throb and hurt, especially during damp, rainy weather. These are some of the symptoms of that most loathsome of all diseases, Contagious Blood Poison.

GAMES WITH CUBAN X GIANTS.

The Census and Capitol City Nines to Meet Colored Wanders. The Cuban X Giants will begin a serie of four games with the Census Office and Capital City baseball aggregation t row at the American League Park. Th Giants are a team of colored professional ball topsers and have traveled all over the United States, defeating some of the best teams in all parts of the country They will stop in this city for four days and endeavor to defeat the two best teams in the city.

The Census teum is the best nine in the Department Lengue, in which they won first place with hands down, having but three defents against fifteen games but three defents against intern games won. The nine has been strengthened by the addition of several new players, among them being A. S. Wolfe, of the Southern League, and Blewett, of Georgetown. The latter will probably do the laborious box work for the statisticia The Capital City nine is a contingent of colored ball players of this city, who have traveled a great deal and have many games to their credit.

The Giants have a great record throughout the country and hope to land all of the games here, but the two local teams have been practicing hard for the past few weeks and are prepared to show the few weeks and are prepared to show the Glants some new stunts in the line of playing the national game. The best game that is looked forward to by the local fains is the first game with the Cen-sus Office lads, as the statisticians are expected to take the Glants down a pes or two and spoil the latter's record for a time at least. The Glants are en-route to San Francisco, where they will play throughout the coming winter.

Arrangements for the Senson's Entertainments Completed. The regular monthly meeting of Saengerbund was held last night, Frank Claudy presiding. The final arrangements for the concert season, which is to ments for the concert season, which is to open on Sunday, October 29, were discussed and ultimately approved.

A large number of new members were admitted and the regular routine business was disposed of.

Before the meeting adjourned it was unanimously resolved to send a telegram to the Arion Gesang Verein, Baltimore, congratulating that society upon its fiftleth anniversary.

Wrecked by Exploding Gas. FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 6.—The residents of the Third ward were startled by a terrific explosion yesterday morning. Timber and furniture were seen flying through the air at the residence of John L. Mor-
